

ALUMINIUM ARMOUR PLATING

With the need for speed and manoeuvrability, as well as top-class armour protection, military armoured vehicles make extensive use of aluminium.

The CVR (Combat Vehicle Reconnaissance) has historically adopted aluminium-intensive armour solutions, traceable from 1967 up to present day. The Warrior variants used today in Afghanistan are built in the UK, with UK-produced aluminium armour systems.

The photos show aluminium clad Warrior Vehicles.

© Crown Copyright/MOD 1999

© Crown Copyright/MOD 2005